Naturism & Me

Growing up in a French Canadian, Swedish, Finnish Family; one became accustomed to nudity at an early age. Whether it be on the beach or in the sauna, being naked was just a part of it.

That all changed for me in my early twenties. Many people don't know this story; but its one of how Naturism and Nude Recreation saved my life.

I had to endure a horrible life changing event- I was no longer comfortable with my body, my sexuality, and my inner self. It was many years of turmoil and a deep inner struggle. I had turned to alcohol and prescription drugs to cope with the pain of being raped.

One day, a friend invited me to Mazo Beach in Mazomanie, Wisconsin. I was hesitant to go, and I certainly didn't want to be naked around other people. It was an eighty degree day, and I wore black pants and a turtle neck shirt. My friend had known, that in the past I had enjoyed nude beaches and resorts. He was trying to help me recapture what I had lost.

Everybody was off mingling and enjoying the beautiful summer day. I found myself longing to go skinny dipping, but also having this inner fear that would not subside. I sat on that beach blanket for what seemed like hours--- thinking and analyzing the whole situation. Scared to death, that people were staring at me. Well- they were! I was wearing jeans and a turtle neck shirt! ☺

I decided to walk down the river a bit. I stumbled upon a swimming hole, that was hidden by the over growth of a river side tree. I rolled up my pants, and decided to wade in the water. I remember it feeling so cool and refreshing. I kept looking around, scared that someone may see me. In fact, many people were walking by me along the river and had no idea I was there or they just paid no attention?

It was probably the heat and the attire that I was wearing, but I decided to go for it. I slowly began to undress and immerse myself into the refreshing waters of the Wisconsin River. I remember the wonderful feeling of freedom washing over me. It was so overwhelming that I began to weep. I wept for my freedom, myself, my body, and most importantly- my inner spirit. In an instant I was feeling what I had known as a child and young adult. The raw emotion was overpowering. I was free and unafraid for the first time in a very long time.

In the coming summer months and into the fall; I visited Mazo Beach almost daily. Nothing or no one was going to stop or take away this freedom that I had gained back. You see, that day on Wisconsin River I had found myself again. All it took was an understanding friend, and a small hidden pool beneath an old tree to recapture the person I am.

Naturism gave me back my life. It began to show me in subtle ways that it was ok to be me. I began to feel comfortable in my own skin again. I had broken down those walls that surrounded me. Some people will never understand my story, or why I feel about Naturism the way I do? My story is one of Body and Self Acceptance. Its Freedom.

This is why I want a resort here in Montana. I want others to know the joy and freedom of Naturism and Nude Recreation. Naturism and Nude Recreation are a freeing, liberating, and a healthy lifestyle. It is a choice to be free, natural, and liberated from clothing and society. Its letting go of the ties that bind us.

P.S. I worried that this part of my life was too personal to share in our newsletter. The reason for me sharing this is a phone call from a member who had a similar experience. She shared her story, and I wanted to share my story. I wanted her and others to know, that your life can be reclaimed. I hope it shows others to never let anyone or anything hold you back.

This has been an exciting time for us here at Vista's of Montana. We have been diligently searching for a property, so that we may bring a clothing optional resort to Montana. This has not been an easy sell to some of the more conservative people here in this state. However, the support that Vista's of Montana has received is overwhelming.

I just wanted to take a moment to thank some of the key people who have really helped and guided us along this journey. These people are:

Bill Bisbee of Montana Naturist Society

Jeff Goodrich of Montana Naturist Society

Terri Justice of AANR (American Association for Nude Recreation)

Nicki Hoffman-Lee of The Naturist Society

Sharon LaFavre of United Country Realty

Dan Anderson of the Small Business Administration

It has been such a pleasure working with all of you, and I can not begin to tell you all how much I appreciate your kindness, moral support, and understanding. We still have a long ways to go to get Vista's off the drawing board and into reality. However, we have jumped our first hurdle and our offer is accepted by the owners of Boulder Creek Cabins and RV Resort. Now we move onto City, County, and State planning to see if there will any objections to our resort in Granite County. So- everyone keep your fingers crossed and keep good thoughts coming our way.
